

CHIROPRACTIC CARE HAS
THE ABILITY TO IGNITE
THE HEALING POTENTIAL
WITHIN US

The body can only take so much physical, chemical, mental and emotional stress before breaking down. This results in subtle (and not so subtle) changes in behavior, personality, emotions, immune function, sensory integration and learning in addition to pain and loss of mobility.

The chiropractic adjustment to the joints of the spine promotes immune function and balance to all of the body's systems. It allows a healing and adaptive state to ensure you are at your best.

It may surprise you, but we evaluate and adjust everyone from pregnant moms, newborns, and sick children, to athletes and those suffering with major conditions. Chiropractic care as a solution for some of these circumstances is quite counterintuitive, but it doesn't stop millions of parents from having their children treated on a regular basis to get the individualized care they deserve. Like a toddler who suffered with a chronic ear infection for almost a year. Despite the two-hour drive, the mother gave us a try. With ongoing care, her infections cleared up and surgery for ear tubes was cancelled.

Recently, a teenager given a diagnosis of chronic fibromyalgia and a sentence of lifelong narcotics was wheeled into our office with debilitating pain. When care started, it took ten minutes to get her out of her wheelchair and onto a table due to the agonizing pain. Over four months, I watched her go from wheelchair to a walker, to a cane, and then the day came when she walked into the office with no assistance and tears of joy on her face. This beautiful teenager, who was once on massive doses of morphine, was drug-free and had her life back.

Regardless of severity or chronicity of the illness, chiropractic care has the ability to ignite the healing potential within us to transform a life from mere survival to having the ease and joy we were meant to have. ✨

Dr. Wade Port

grew up in Marietta, GA where he felt like an outsider in conventional schooling but excelled at "out-of-the-box" thinking. Charged with the mission to serve others who may have fallen through the cracks, he graduated from Life University where he is now a treasured extension faculty member.

Dr. Wade has been teaching and training chiropractors for over a decade but insists the real heroes are the parents and people who are taking action to regain their life and health through Chiropractic care.

Lifeworks Chiropractic

Serves Metro Atlanta from its East Cobb location.

2840 Johnson Ferry Rd,
Marietta 30062

678-926-9300

LifeworksATL.com